Sunday, August 16, 4pm-6pm

Artist Conversation and Dinner at the Headlands Center for the Arts: Visual Eco-Criticism: Katie Kurtz in conversation with Barry Underwood, Christel Dillbohner & Christine Lee

What does the green movement mean for art and vice versa? Bay Area writer and environmentalist Katie Kurtz considers this question via a practice she has coined "visual eco-criticism." Kurtz considers the work of photographer Barry Underwood, German installation artist Christel Dillbohner, and multidisciplinary, San Francisco-based artist Christine Lee as case studies to directly test her thesis.

$10 General Admission, free for Headlands and San Jose ICA Members Dinner $20 per person ($15 for Headlands Members)

Headlands Center for the Arts: 944 Fort Barry, Sausalito, CA

Please RSVP for dinner by visiting www.headlands.org or emailing info@headlands.org.
